

CONTINENTS .

OF

MARS

Michael Csuzdi

Kingston, Ont.

March 5, 1984

Contents

Abstract.....1
Continents of Mars....2
Appendix A.....11
Appendix B.....18
References.....28

Abstract

The author has proposed that the Earth's continents are positioned by internal electrostatic forces. The mathematical and electrical equations which have been used for the Earth can be used for Mars as well. These, together with the already available topographical map of Mars, show that there are three well defined ancient continents on Mars which are positioned also by internal electrostatic forces.

